

Russell Lamberti Bio:

Chief economist, head of research, and executive director at Sakeliga - a non-profit organisation working with our members to create state-proof commercial order. Co-author of When Money Destroys Nations, a book about Zimbabwe's hyperinflation and economic collapse. Consultant to professional investors.

Areas of professional interest: parallel commercial institutional development, decentralised secure systems, asset allocation, business cycles, monetary policy and inflation, political economy, secular development/de-development, social order, cultural and civilisational conflict.

Previous roles: founder and strategist at ETM Macro Advisors; chief strategist at ETM Analytics; economist at Econometrix.

Graduated: School of Economics, UCT.